Why Make Sacrifices (Part 2)?

After the children of Israel came back from Babylonian captivity, they returned to building their houses and making a life for themselves. Unfortunately, they lost focus on God, and they began to behave selfishly. One symptom of their selfishness was their offerings to God. In the book of Malachi, we learn that their sacrifices were unacceptable because they were offering the leftovers. They asked God how they were doing this, and God's reply was, "When you offer blind animals in sacrifice, is that not evil? And when you offer those that are lame or sick, is that not evil? Present that to your governor; will he accept you or show you favor? says the Lord of hosts" (Malachi 1:8).

Offering these second-rate animals was symptomatic of Israel's priorities. They were putting themselves first instead of God. A sacrifice indicates whether or not we are really putting God first. It is one of the tests of our devotion to God. Like the people in Malachi's day, we sometimes offer God the leftovers and never consider making a real sacrifice. Of course, God doesn't need any of these things because "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof, the world and those who dwell therein" (Psalm 24:1). God wants us to put Him first because that is what is best for us! God created us and He knows best what we truly need, and what we need most is Him! When we don't put God first, we cheat ourselves out of the blessed life. Now, by blessed, I don't mean luxurious, wealthy, or even prosperous. The blessed life is a life of contentment, joy, peace, and righteousness, which things are spiritual in nature. Such a life must be based on the faith that we place in God, and the sacrifices that we make correspond directly to our faith in God.

God bless you, and I love you.
