Seven Beliefs for Mental Wellness (Part 4)

Fifth, Paul states, “but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God” (4:6). Prayer unburdens the Christian from the ceaseless parade of events about which he is concerned, but has no direct control. Prayer provides a means whereby the Christian may exercise a heart of thankfulness to the Creator, Sustainer, and Provider. Prayer provides opportunity for the Christian to divest himself of wrong choices made in the course of the day’s events. Prayer motivates the Christian to act in ways that will improve his relationship with his God and his fellow man. There is much blessing in prayer. Modern psychology acknowledges these activities as being therapeutic and helpful to an individual’s mental state. If we as Christians, would only acknowledge the power of prayer in times of trouble how great burdens would be removed from our weary shoulders and what great relief would be obtained from the troubles of life.

The conclusion of enacting these first five exercises in one’s life is this: “and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.” There is a certain peace that comes through understanding and applying these five principles in one’s life. The peace that God gives “surpasses all understanding;” one’s abilities alone cannot provide the type of peace that God provides. God’s peace defies the human intellect because ultimate peace in God depends upon one’s faith in God that comes from hearing the word of God (Romans 10:17). Faith is always presupposed for having a healthy mind. Without faith, nothing avails to bring peace to our souls. The heart and mind of the Christian will only be guarded through Christ Jesus.

God bless you, and I love you. Kevin Cauley

To my church family, Thank you for the wonderful "Texas" luncheon. My words are not adequate enough to express my appreciation and heartfelt gratitude for the demonstration of you love shown by all the kind words and the generous farewell gift. It was very thoughtful of you to have a special cake for Kamryn. She was very happy about that. She told me later she wanted to say that she loves coming to church here and she will miss everyone but she couldn't because she was about to cry. I thank God for your example of faith and brotherly live and the inspiration you have been for me for many years. I will miss all of you, but especially my class. I have enjoyed teaching all the little ones trough the years. Carson and Josie Lynn are in my class right now. I will miss their sweet little faces and I will miss being here to teach Deacon Blake and Livi Rae when they get 2 years old. My loss will be Shara Hobson and Lee Dooley's gain. I thank them for being willing to teach this class. They will love the children and teach them God's word. The children will love them. It is not easy to leave here but I am praying God will grant me sometime to spend with Kamryn, Nicole, Andrea, Dustin, and Clayton and to continue to serve Him. I pray that God will bless you and be with you until we meet again.

I love you all, Paulette Taylor

Dear Fellow Christians at New Boston, I am thanking God for the gift of you all. His love shone through you and lifted me up at a very sorrow-filled time. I appreciate the hospital, nursing home visits, the phone calls, the beautiful memorial plant, your prayers, and your encouragement. I know it's not easy to put together a meal for a family on such short notice, but you managed it well and we appreciate all the hands and hearts that organized, cooked, cleaned and contributed in any way. James and I have been blessed to be part of such a thoughtful, kind, and generous church family. And I continue to be blessed by your support and reassurance.

In Christian Love,
Shelah Shirley
