Seven Beliefs for Mental Wellness (Part 5)

Sixth, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things" (4:8). One must love God with his mind! (Matthew 22:37). The exhortation is not to just let one's mind randomly drift upon anything that comes along, but to deliberately concentrate upon good things. What happens between someone's two ears is under his control! All of his thoughts, feelings, and emotions! One must take responsibility by confessing his own sinful thoughts such as envy, hatred, vengeance, and malice. Only by taking ownership through repentance can He then give them to God and experience forgiveness. Worry, anxiety, depression, and despair are emotions fueled by sinful thinking. When one accepts responsibility, takes control of his thinking, and fills himself with these good thoughts, there will be no more room for the sinful. It is a fight and struggle to battle these things, but one must bring his focus back upon the true, honest, just, pure, lovely, good, and virtuous. One of the great failures of modern psychology is that while it can help someone understand what he is thinking and bring him to a greater awareness of his thoughts, it cannot provide ultimate content for thought. Only the gospel provides the content – Christ Jesus! We must focus our minds upon Him, His life, His love, His humility, His sacrifice. In so doing, we can fill our life with the good things that God created for us.

God bless you and I love you.

JULY 10 GOD'S HOME

Join us on Sunday, July 10th, at the New Boston Church of Christ for a mini lectureship.

The Bible gives us a very clear purpose for the home and for the members that make up the home. It is God's desire that we fulfill that purpose in our lives as His creation. Everyone wants fulfilling relationships that bring joy and peace to our lives, especially in our homes. Doing things God's way will accomplish those results and make our homes the kind of places where everyone will want to be. Come learn more about how to love God and love your neighbors that are closest to you, your own family, in this series of lessons on God's home.

God bless you.
