Delete the "Trash"

I have a program on my computer that does good work. I like it a lot, and it is helpful. However, this program also leaves behind some trash on my hard drive in the form of temporary files. Every so often, I must delete these temporary files so that they do not completely fill up my hard drive. If I forget to do this, then all the other programs on my computer will stop working. So, I invest the time to delete these files to ensure that my computer continues to run smoothly.

Relationships are a lot like this. We value those with whom we have good relationships. We appreciate their friendship and all the good they do for us and for others. Sometimes, however, our friends may say or do something that leaves some "trash" behind. At this point, we have a choice. On the one hand, we can let that "trash" build over time until the relationship stops working. This may affect other relationships as well. On the other hand, we can delete the "trash" as it comes along. This keeps the relationship healthy.

Paul wrote in Colossians 3:12-13, "Therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, put on tender mercies, kindness, humility, meekness, longsuffering; bearing with one another, and forgiving one another, if anyone has a complaint against another; even as Christ forgave you, so you also must do." The word for forgiveness in this verse means to act favorably toward another by letting go of one's complaint; it doesn't require another person to ask our forgiveness. By practicing forgiveness in our relationships, we can delete the "trash" so that it doesn't become a big problem. When we don't forgive one another, our relationships stop working, and this creates bigger problems. Let's be forgiving people!

God bless you, and I love you.

Remember in Prayer

Russell Tyndell has been transferred to Zale Lipshy in Dallas; Ricky Tribble (brother of Sandra Conley); Jerdean Wages, (mother of Doug Wages); Michelle Richardson; (daughter-in-law of Janiece Richardson); Jared Boston; Meg Shelton; Virginia Parrish; Melda Spencer and Charles Howard .

Shut-Ins: Faye Anderson; Sue Yarberr; Phil Williams; Keith & Helen Clark and Joe Martin.

Sympathy and prayers to the family of Jimmy "Big Jim" Crawford. We lost a wonderful brother in Christ and a friend to many in the community. Jim will be missed by all.

Deanna and family we love you and may God bless you .

Always look at the brighter side of life, just like the sunflower which looks upon the sun not the dark clouds. Copied

"Happy Birthday" to Maddux Tyndell on 8/12; to Grace Duffer on 8/17 and to Sommer Hobson on 8/18. "Happy Anniversary" to Mr. & Mrs. Kevin Cauley on 8/17.

Resorting to Prayer

"Give ear to my prayer, O God; and do not hide Yourself from my supplication. . . . I would hasten to my place of refuge from the stormy wind and tempest. Confuse, O Lord, divide their tongues, for I have seen violence and strife in the city. . . . Evening and morning and at noon, I will complain and murmur, and He will hear my voice" (Psalm 55:1, 8, 9, 17).

How did this writer go about resolving a life-threatening conflict? His plan is easily followed: He went immediately to God in prayer, thought the problem through in the attitude of prayer, gave what he could to God for Him to handle, and committed himself to trusting God for deliverance. What he could not do, he brought to God and left with Him; what he could do—for example, resolving to trust in God—he did do. The key thoughts in this psalm are "tragedy," "prayer," "righteousness," and "God." The godly man is the person, come what may. God will sustain him. The link between this righteous man and His God is righteousness and prayer.

Key Thought: The psalmist relieves his load of agonizing frustrations by leaving them at heaven's doorstep. He, as a righteous man, has withdrawn into the closet of prayer, and found his solace in His God.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

We are having a Teachers Luncheon on Tuesday, August 15th beginning at 11:30 for all the New Boston school teachers & staff. We need volunteers for kitchen help & servers, people to bake cookies, to ice cups and to serve drinks and for clean-up. If you can give a monetary gift that will be much appreciated, please give it to one of the Elders or Kevin. There are sign-up sheets on the bulletin board .

"Let your light so shine before others , so that they may see your good deeds and glorify your Father in Heaven.
