Jesus' Way is the Best

Not too long ago, I saw on Facebook an article about an almost pristine Caddo canoe that was discovered in Louisiana. Archeologists were examining it, but it looked to be authentic. Such discoveries thrill us because they give us some insight into the history of our area and how native people's lived hundreds of years ago. We believe that we can learn from the past, and so we invest energy into discovering things of the past and studying them. We also value primitivism. This is the notion that the peoples of the past did things better than we did. We may view their lifestyle as superior to ours because of its simplicity, resourcefulness, and originality.

While the things that we learn from a Caddo canoe are limited, we can certainly apply these principles to our spiritual life. We look to the teaching, example, and life of Jesus as the one who did things better than we do them. His was truly a superior lifestyle being simple, resourceful, and original in its spirituality. Jesus didn't complicate things like we do; He didn't seek all the worldly pursuits that we engage in; He trusted in the blessings of His Father one day at a time. His plan is simple, resourceful, and original, and it is best to stick with Him. This is why He said, "Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you and learn from Me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For My yoke is easy and My burden is light" (Matthew 11:28-30). Let's not complicate things with so-called "contemporary" spiritual pursuits, but trust in the primitive, simple words of Jesus.

God bless you, and I love you.

"Happy Birthday" to Patricia Smithson on 7/31 and to Andrea Tyndell on 8/1.

Praying With Trust

"Behold, God is my helper; the Lord is the sustainer of my soul. He will recompense the evil to my foes; destroy them in Your faithfulness. Willingly I will sacrifice to You; I will give thanks to Your name, O Lord, for it is good. For He has delivered me from all trouble, and my eye has looked with satisfaction upon my enemies" (Psalm 54:4-7).

In his prayer, the writer called God to his side. As he exercised his faith by trusting in God, he was able to relax in the confidence that God takes care of His own. He not only believed enough to pray, but he also believed enough to trust that God would answer that prayer in His great mercy and grace. After praying, he went on his way believing in God. He looked at the riddle of his predicament as if God had already solved it. He knew God's reliability in keeping His promises. He was so certain of God's help that he could go ahead and accept in faith the answer that God would give.

Key Thought: When we are in the throes of trouble, let us pray, and then let us rejoice with confident faith in the answer that God will give to that prayer.
