Mixing It Up!

Not too many Sundays ago, we had a class in which we discussed getting out of our ruts. The question that came up was "How can we do a better job of getting to know one another?" There were many helpful suggestions. One of the simplest suggestions was to sit in a different place for worship. This was extended to sitting next to someone that you normally did not sit next to. We also discussed sitting next to a different person during our monthly potluck luncheons. These are great and simple ways to get to know one another. Have we been working on this? Have we been "mixing it up?" It is so easy to fall back into habitual behavior without thinking, but we would do well to make the effort.

So, this Sunday, let's try to sit next to someone that we haven't sat next to in a while. We can call it "Mix It Up Sunday." I will make an effort to do this myself also. Maybe this involves sitting closer to the front for some of you. Maybe this involves moving to the other side of the building for a change. Maybe this involves finding a friend that you haven't sat by in a while. Whatever the case may be, let's do what we can and make an effort to get to know each other better. Our congregation will be encouraged by this effort! Hebrews 3:13 states, "but exhort one another daily, while it is called 'Today,' lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin."

God bless you, and I love you.

We should be grateful for our deliverance from Satan's Domain of Darkness (Colossians 1:13-14). We are grateful unto God, whose power and dominion are infinite. He has done all we could not do for ourselves for salvation. Eternal life is His gift, through his Son Jesus Christ (Romans 6:23)!

While it's true some sins do "so easily beset us", we have defense and help in times of need (1 Cor 10:13; Hebrews 4:16; 12:1-2). Indeed, the "Lord knows how to rescue the godly from trials" (2 Peter 2:9). God helps us to not enter in to temptation as we remember the nature of sin and its consequences. Pleasures of sins are "only for a season" (Hebrews 11:25). We've access to the Word of God, which David attested as that would keep him from sin (Psalm 119:11), and Jesus demonstrated its use (Mat 4:1-11). We deny Satan his advantage(s) over us if we are aware of him and his devices. jp
