

From "Is God Dead?"

...the "Death of God" philosophy was popular in the sixties, <but> it was only a rehash of something ancient. The apostle Paul wrote, "And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient" (Rom 1:28). To the Corinthians Paul wrote, "For after that in the wisdom of God, the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe" (1 Cor 1:21). Men of old turned away from God thinking they had all the knowledge they needed to determine their own course of life. In reality, their sense of morality was so far below God's standard as to shame their own philosophers and invoke their condemnation.

Evolution Fail

I read a headline today that said, “Prehistoric Snakes Had Limbs.” Evidently, some archaeologist dug up a fossilized body of a snake that had arms and legs. Those who know the Bible will not be shocked to discover this because part of God’s curse on the serpent in Genesis 3:14 was, “On your belly you shall go.” The implication of that is before this, serpents had some kind of arms and legs and did not crawl on their bellies. Of course, those who found the fossilized remains claim they are “millions” of years old. It seems odd that scientists would find fossils that verify the Bible’s truthfulness about serpent biology, but then deny what it says about geology. Why can’t they let the verification of God’s word extend to its claim about the age of the earth as well? Of course, if they did that, they would have to rewrite decades of textbooks that proclaim evolutionary biology!

Here’s the “secret” that evolutionists don’t want anyone to know. Even with all the billions of years that they claim happened in which evolution took place, they still don’t have enough time! This is why they have hypothesized such things as punctuated equilibrium--which says that at certain times in history evolution took great leaps forward (all of the laws of biology being ignored, with trillions of random beneficial mutations occurring.) There is no evidence for that, but that is what must happen for their theory to be true. (It also makes great science fiction and comic books!) The biggest hurdle they face, however, is how life originated to begin with. Life just does not come from non-life, and something doesn’t come from nothing.

God bless you, and I love you.
