

from “Is the Bible relevant to Today’s World?” by Bob Prichard

The world is filled with inequality, racism, hatred, and intolerance. When Jesus told the story of the “Good Samaritan” (Luke 10), He crossed boundary lines of racial hatred that have few modern parallels, and showed what it means to be a real neighbor. The world still has not learned the basic lessons Jesus taught in the first century! The Bible offers hope for our divided world as it exalts the Prince of Peace Who said, “And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me” (John 12:32). He reconciles man to man in His body, the church. In the church of Christ revealed in the Bible there is unity unknown anywhere else in the world, because “there is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” Gal 3:28. The Bible reveals how He broke down the barriers.

Happenings in God's Family

Is the Bible Inerrant?

Yes, as it was originally given to the prophets, the Bible contains no errors. This is because it is the inspired word of God (2 Timothy 3:16), and God does not make mistakes, and He always tells the truth (Titus 1:3). Now, that doesn't mean that in its being copied throughout the thousands of years by fallible human hands, that some textual errors have not slipped into the Bible. A few have. However, this simply reinforces the integrity of the scriptures, since we know where those errors have occurred through study of the ancient texts. The certainty of the text of the Bible is sure despite human error.

Some say that the Bible has contradictions in it. This is false. A contradiction is the affirmation of both the truth and falsehood of the same precisely stated statement. Some look at two statements in the Bible that discuss two different things and conclude a contradiction. The statements "Moses was a Hebrew," and "Moses was an Egyptian" are not contradictory because both are true. The statements "Moses was a Hebrew," and "Moses was not a Hebrew" are contradictory. This is the difficulty with proving a contradiction. There are plenty of books devoted to explaining alleged Bible contradictions, and they are worth reading.

More importantly, however, the content of the Bible is inerrant. This means that when we study it, we are reading actual history, understanding truth about God, and learning correct morality. As 2 Timothy 2:16-17 make clear, the scriptures are "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, thoroughly equipped for every good work." This means that there is no other source of information needed to be a completed person of God.

God bless you, and I love you.
